

Print Mail Production

Your print/mail provider should save you time, trouble, and have a positive impact on your costs. At Midwest Direct, we have the facility and team to get your mail projects out the door and to your clients quickly and with as few touches as possible. If your mailings have gotten too complicated or time consuming to do in house it may be time to hand them off to a production facility like Midwest. At Midwest we can take your mailing from list through print, assembly, and off to the USPS® all in one place. We are staffed with postal experts, so we can ensure your mail is meeting postal specifications every step of the way.

PERSONALIZATION

Our production team will provide the best quality every step of the way, especially when it comes to personalization. Not only can we spray on addresses, we can also offer variable data printing on every part of your mailing. We can even help you figure out how to design your mail piece — just ask!

Ask for digital, dynamic full color print!

SPEED AND COST

We are always updating equipment to make sure we can offer the best quality, efficiently and cost to our clients. Our goal is to streamline the process to keep the project cost effective and efficient.

COMPLEXITY

We can take on complex mail projects. If your mailing needs complex versioning or inserting, we handle it and keep you within postal regulations. Our team of postal experts are ready to take on your mailing needs.
